2. Redmond 2050 Zoning Code Changes (Beckye Frey, Planning and Community Development) Background The City recently completed an update to the Redmond zoning code to support alignment with the Redmond 2050 Comprehensive Plan. The updates will impact nearly every property in the City, changing how Redmond will be built for decades. Highlights include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Consolidates the zoning code from 50 to 20 zoning districts and restructures and rewrites the code to make it easier to use and understand. • Updates use regulations, such as adding more entertainment and food uses, including adding food truck courts; makes home-based business regulations more flexible; and creates new opportunities for neighborhood mixed-use. • Provides new opportunities for transit-oriented development around Redmond's light rail stations, with bonuses for implementing the new Marymoor Village Arts and Cultural District and inclusive neighborhood pilot project. • Significant updates to design standards to advance equity and inclusion, sustainability, and resiliency priorities; meet new state law; and encourage creativity. • Adopts new mandatory green building requirements that includes provisions for EV-ready parking and additional flexibility for green building techniques like mass timber and passive house construction. • Adopts universal design standards and incentives to help make Redmond's buildings and neighborhoods more welcoming and inclusive. • Adopts a new citywide incentive program that emphasizes child-friendly, inclusive community, and arts and cultural options, as well as helps further affordable housing and sustainability goals. 	25 minutes
